THE second performance of "Betay," by the Edmonton Dramatic association, was given before a full house, and was, if possible, an improvement on the preceding evening, the several members of the company showing more confidence in their parts. Mr. de Jour and the members of the association are entitled to great credit for the time and trouble they have taken to produce the play, as well as for their success. Their next presentation will be looked forward to anxiously, and they will be certain of a full house.

THE Province, (Victoria, B. C.), of Saturday, April 4th, is a special number and marks the beginning of the third year of publication. The illustrations include views of the towns of Rossland, Revelstoke and Ainsworth, and industrial scenes, hydraulic mining, salmon canning, etc. The reading matter is even better and more abundant than usual. The price of the Province is now reduced to 10c. a year, making it the cheapest paper of its class in America, and leaving it one of the very best. People interested directly or indirectly, or likely to become interested in British Columbia will get a better view of that province as it is through the columns of the Province than in any other way.

Regina Leader: "Premier Haultain returned to town on Monday after a stay of seven weeks in the east, most of which time he spent in Ottawa. To a Leader representative Mr. Haultain said he had nothing particular to communicate. Asked respecting the $25,000 relief works repayment, he stated the sum had been passed by Council and would appear in the supplementary estimates for 1895-96. Whether the general vote to the North-West government would be increased, he could not say. The ministers had thoroughly discussed with him the estimates as presented, which asked for various material increases; and a spirit of greater interest was manifested by the Dominion authorities in the matter than had been observable in previous years. What that increase would actually be given would not be known until the supplementary estimates for next year were brought down."

THE SESSION.

In nine days more the present session of parliament, and the life of the present parliament, will expire together. Although the remedial bill is still being debated, it has become a certainty that it will not be passed, and the prospect of any other public measure being completed is exceedingly remote. The session will cost the country several hundreds of thousands of dollars. So much money is expended without result form a question in itself of no light importance. It must be understood that the present is an extra session of parliament. That five sessions of the present parliament had already been held and, under all the ordinary rules of parliamentary government the general elections should have intervened before another session. Indeed a year ago before, the holding of the fifth session, it was given out semi-officially that the general elections would take place forthwith. Had that been done after the issue of the remedial order, the elections would have been fought out on that issue, and the question would have been dealt with and probably disposed of at the session which would have been held last summer at the same time as the fifth session was actually held. This would have left the present session free of any such entanglement, and the public business would have been transacted. That this would have been the proper constitutional, as well as the best business course, everyone must admit. When an important question touching the very foundation of confederation, such as the coercion of Manitoba, comes up, especially when it comes up near the close of the life of a parliament, it is held to be not only right but necessary under our system of popular and responsible government, that the people should be given an opportunity to pronounce upon the question at a general election before parliament undertakes to legislate. There is no doubt that this was the intention of the premier. But other, and not more wise, counsels prevailed. Parliament was called together and instead of the school question being disposed of its consideration was postponed on the especial and express authority and responsibility of the government, until the present extra session, the only reason for the holding of which was that it was necessary to deal with the question of remedial legislation. Why an election did not take place at the close of the fifth session—the number properly occurring during the full term of a parliament at the proper time for the people to pronounce on the school question—is for the government at present in office, and their friends, to explain. On the sole responsibility of the present administration the present session was called for the alleged purpose of forcing through a coercion bill before election, not as a measure of justice to anyone, but purely as a political expedient, ignoring the necessity according to constitutional usage of getting a mandate from the people before attempting such action. The session opened on Jan. 2nd, and it was the beginning of March before the bill, which was the cause of the session being held, was submitted to parliament. When the fifth session closed the date of the opening of the sixth was practically fixed. This being the case, the government was morally, as well as necessarily, bound to have their remedial measure ready for the opening of the sixth session—provided they wanted to pass it. The fact that two months out of the less than possible four months of the session went by before the bill was presented for consideration, does not look on its face like honest intentions; the more so when the nature of the bill is considered—that it interfered with the foundation principles of confederation, and therefore required careful consideration from a constitutional stand point; besides the fierce opposition it was certain to arouse on its merits. The play that has since been made regarding it by Sir Charles Tupper and his followers only shows their desire to be thought anxious to pass it, not that it should become law. The fact that at the time he was employing his most bullying tactics in the house ostensibly in favor of the bill he was sending Sir Donald Smith on a secret mission to Winnipeg to see if some way out of the difficulty could not be found throws a sufficient light on that subject. The bill was never drafted to be passed. Its 112 contradictory clauses are drawn with a view to produce the largest possible amount of discussion with the least amount of results, as is shown by the amendments moved by remedial members themselves. The pretended attempts to pass the bill are as deceptive as the bill itself, which gives nothing to those whom it is supposed to help, while taking from those whom it is intended to hurt. It would be bad enough to have an extra session for a certain definite purpose, but to hold an extra session simply for the purpose of deceiving the public is a fraud worthy even of Sir Charles Tupper.

SPRING.

The spring is not as early as at one time seemed likely, but there is plenty of time yet. An early spring in this country generally gives the least favorable harvest returns. Brisk growth does not begin until the rains come in the latter end of May, and the shorter the time intervening between the disappearance of the snow and that date, the less time there is for the ground to become dried out by spring winds. When the snow goes off very early the west wind generally comes in and keeps blowing until the rain begins. The days are bright and sunny and the nights frosty. Consequently the newly plowed ground soon becomes dry and grain is slow to sprout or after sprouting, its growth is checked by dryness or cold. When the snow goes off late the ground has not time to dry out before the rain begins, the days are warm and calm and there are few if any frosts, so that growth once started continues unchecked and gives a better return at harvest than grain sown earlier in an apparently more favorable season.

A diary kept by St. Geo. Jellett when farming in Clover Bar settlement, extending over a period of six years, which the BULLETIN has been allowed to inspect, gives some valuable information as to the course of the seasons here:

1886—Seeding finished on May 24th. Harvest over on Sept. 1st. Season generally dry, but wet in fall; 6 acres of oats yielded 654 bushels; 50 acres barley yielded 3,000 bushels; 4 acres wheat yielded 168 bushels.

1887—Seeding finished on May 26th. Frost in the first part of June put back the crop. Frost again occurred on August 6th, which destroyed the wheat and reduced the barley to the smallest pig feed, but did not injure the oats; 263 acres of oats yielded 2,610 bushels; 60 acres of barley yielded 1,000 bushels; 63 acres wheat yielded nothing. Harvest finished on October 10. Threshing on Oct. 19th. Plowing stopped on Nov. 15th.

1888—Plowing began April 25th. Ice went out of the river on April 24th. Began sowing oats on May 7th, and finished on May 15th. Finished sowing barley on June 3rd. Spring opened well with warm weather and rain. Two inches snow on June 4th. White frost on June 5th, but no harm done. Slight frost on night of Aug. 6th, but did no harm. A hail storm on August 18th did a good deal of harm throughout the district and to our crop. Began cutting barley on Aug. 25th. Very slight frost on Sept. 6th. Heavy crops throughout the country. Our yield 4,500 bushels oats, 3,200 bushels of barley and 175 bushels of wheat on 167 acres.

1889—No snow from January to April, and only two or three cold days. Weather sprightly for a month past. Used buckboard and wagon all season. Began plowing March 28th. Mosquitoes appeared on April 3rd. First frost on April 18th. Ice went out of the river on April 10th. Seeding finished May 10th. Trees in full leaf and strawberries in blossom on May 8th. Summer dry and hot. Began harvesting barley on August 17th. Slight frost on August 16th, no harm done. Three inches of snow on Sept. 9th and 10th. Hard frost Sept. 13th, damaging late wheat. Our yield 1,100 bushels barley, 600 bushels wheat, 500 bushels oats. Of the wheat 150 bushels was first class, barley good, oats light. River closed Nov. 16th. Snowfall of six inches on Nov. 18th. Winter long and cold.

1890—Plowing commenced on April 25th. Ice moved out of the river on April 28th. Finished sowing oats on May 20th. Wheat head on July 19th. Summer wet and warm. Frost on 9th, 10th and 11th Sept. Late grain injured. Harvest late. Two inches of snow on Nov. 4th. Ice running in river on Nov. 8th. Winter fine, only a foot of snow and very little cold weather.

1891—Snow gone on April 4th. Ice went out on April 10th. Spring dry and hot, thermometer up to 90 in the shade several times. Rain and snow on May 27th and 28th.

Free Press, Ottawa despatch, of April 6: At a meeting of liberals this morning it was agreed to drop factions opposition to the remedial bill as a party. Messrs. Martin, Casey, Mulock and Charlton refused to agree and will help the dissenting conservatives to block the bill.

MANAWAN.

Some of the young people of this district drove over to Mr. W. Cinnamons' and spent a very enjoyable time.

We understand that a number of fences are to be placed across the trail around the lake this spring. This will make it very disagreeable travelling and also make the distance much farther. Something will have to be done soon to make better trails or we may as well throw up our hands and quit. If the new trail was completed it would certainly give us a better outlet, and a much shorter route, but as it now stands it is useless. If a few more fences are put up some of us will have to drive several miles in another direction before starting to town at all. But as our M. L. A. does all he can for us we will have to be patient and wait, as there are dozens of such cases claiming his attention.

Some waves were seen on the Vermillion, April 1st, and you bet if they thought that it was open for them they were April fooled.

NAMAO.

A meeting of the ratepayers of Steurgeon school district was held in the school house on Friday last, to discuss the subject of building a school house, as the building in which the school has been held up to the present time, is church property. After the subject had been thoroughly discussed it was decided to proceed with the work with as little delay as possible. The building is to be frame, plastered inside, with either brick or stone foundation. Messrs. C. Carson, D. B. Wilson and T. T. Brown were appointed a committee to assist the trustees in securing a suitable building site and looking after the work. The building is to be completed by the 15th of July next.

School opened on Tuesday the 7th inst. Mr. Stewart, lately from Ont., is the teacher.

John Harrold has been appointed post master and the office is now located at his residence.

And now another gap has been made in the bachelors' ranks. This time Mr. Chris. Crutcher is the happy man. The bride is Mrs. Jones, who arrived here last fall from near Barrie, Ont.

It is reported that another wedding is to take place this week, and judging from the way in which lumber is piled up on other homesteads in this neighborhood, it looks as if there might be more to follow before long.

WHITE FISH LAKE.

A series of socials has been in progress for the months of January, February, March and April. The first one was held in January at the commodious house of Chief Pakan. The set programme opened in the evening with a foot ball game on the lake. For two hours the contestants waged war, each side making a number of goals. John Ball, the local boy, himself as the champion kicker and runner. Following this vigorous exercise came the dinner at 7 o'clock. About 60 people feasted, and then the games began, interrupted at intervals with school songs and rounds. At the close, 8:30, the chief made a telling speech, setting forth the merits of such lively, amusing and harmless entertainments as contrasted with midnight carousals of dissipation. Mrs. Steinbauer, Mrs. Tompkins and Mrs. Glass took the cooking in hand. Several baskets of fragments remained.

Social No. 2, came off in Mr. Arthur Steinbauer's house on March 3rd, during daylight. This was a bounteous feast, wholly provided by Mr. Steinbauer. A hundred guests were present, and from noon until near evening, feasting, chatting, checkers, etc., and instrumental music by Miss Featherston, were indulged in. Two more entertainments are announced for the season.

The second annual convention of missionaries and teachers was held at White Fish Lake on March 7th. Mr. E. Dawson, Miss M. J. Featherston, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, and a number of visitors. The first session opened at 10 a.m. and continued two hours, during which the following questions taken from the drawer were discussed: "Is it profitable to teach drawing to Indian pupils?" "The best method to induce the children to use English?" In the afternoon session, was discussed the question, "What can be done to retain teachers in the work for longer periods?" In connection with this question the following was carried: "Whereas Her Majesty the Queen, by her commissioners, in treaty with the Plain and Wood Cree, and other tribes of Indians, agrees to maintain schools for instruction on reserves, whenever the Indians shall desire it; and whereas there is not sufficient provision made for teachers' residences; therefore resolved that it is the opinion of the White Fish Lake missionaries and teachers conference, that the Indian departments should materially increase the salaries of teachers in order that qualified and efficient teachers might be secured and induced to remain in the work; and that adequate provision from some reliable source should be made for the erection of teachers' dwellings. From the question drawn these were taken: "The exhibition of passion or irritation in the presence of pupils?" "The habit of counting on the fingers?" The comparative benefit derived from the singing of songs and hymns in English and Cree." "The school wood supply?" "A circulating reading library on missionary and educational work?" An essay on "How should arithmetic be taught?" confined to the simple rules, was read by A. G. McKittrick, and criticized. The superintendents of the mission was in the chair. Sessions opened and closed with religious exercises. The organist, Miss Featherston, enlivened the proceedings with some excellent instrumental solo. It was resolved that copies of important resolutions be forwarded to the missionary secretary, and the chairman of Saskatchewan district for their consideration, and support.

Premier Greenway has gone to Toronto, the Tribune says on immigration matters. Free Press: "Under the bill creating a new electoral division in the Northwest the boundaries of Eastern Assiniboina will not be changed as at first contemplated." A provincial autonomy meeting held recently at Innisfail, which was addressed by Jas. Heilly, of Calgary, declared against the movement.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Free Press says Winnipeg Saturday Night is likely to cease publication.

The Free Press reports that W. Beckton, of Cannington Manor, Asso., will offer himself as a candidate for Eastern Assiniboina at the coming elections.

Davis, in explaining his position in voting for the bill, said that the offer of Sifton should have been accepted by the government. The only excuse for his vote was party pressure.

A telegram from Bulawayo, dated April 6th, says: "The telegraph lines here have been restored, and Hon. Cecil Rhodes, as to whose whereabouts and safety some uneasiness has been felt, telegraphs from Salisbury that Gwelo is safe, and the road is now open.

Free Press Ottawa despatch: Hon. Mr. Daly gave notice of a bill "to make further provisions respecting grants of land to members of the militia in active service in the Northwest." The bill provides for the issue of scrip to the Willow Bunch and Wood Mountain scouts for service in 1885.

E. E. Sheppard, of Toronto Saturday Night, told the Free Press that the remedial bill will not carry. That the remedial party and the conservative party will be beaten at the coming elections and that the next government will be a combination or coalition one. He does not think the Ontario conservatives who voted for the remedial bill will get nearer election than the nominating conventions.

Reports from South Africa indicate that about 100 whites have been massacred by Matabales and 30 more are missing.

The principal centres of population are safe, but small communities are in greater danger.

The British are beginning to assume the aggressive with some success, but they are still too weak in numbers to make a successful campaign or even relieve the besieged settlers. It will be weeks before assistance from the Cape can reach them.

The British government will send 5,000 troops from England and 5,000 from India to deal with the uprising.

The department of militia and defence are granting free ammunition to the league and it is to be hoped this will be an incentive to young shots to practice for the team.

THE C. & E.

Free Press.

"At the recent meeting of the C. P. R. in Montreal the shareholders approved of and confirmed by resolution an agreement between the company and the Calgary and Edmonton railway company, providing for the interchange of tariff between the railways and for the participation by the latter company agent for the Calgary and Edmonton company of their line of railway for a further term of five years; the C. P. R. to assume no financial responsibility in connection therewith."

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS.

Rev. Dr. Carman, head of the Methodist church in Canada has the following to say regarding religious instruction in public schools:

Speaking as a Methodist, I should be glad if there were harmony enough in this country between the various religious sects to permit of the giving of religious instruction in the schools. Those who called out most loudly for the teaching of religion in the schools, however, were the very ones who, by their bigotry, prevented this being done. Were I a politician I would say to those who are clamoring for religion in the schools, "Go away and agree upon some system of religious instruction, satisfactory to all, which could be introduced." Under the state of things which at present exists, I think a man might well say, "Give us national schools where there is no religious instruction, and let the home and the church take care of the religious training of the youth of the country." It was a poor comment on both the church and the home to say that they could not provide all the religious training necessary without looking to the schools.

THE CONFERENCE.

Free Press Ottawa correspondence of April 6th: Hon. Mr. Dickey spoke to your correspondent this morning re the school negotiations at Winnipeg as follows: "I think the conference cannot fail to be productive of great good. I found the most kindly feeling existing, much more kindly than I could have imagined, and I may state, I feel I could find with them now upon a very different basis than I could formerly. The conference has produced a very different feeling between the two governments. We have no doubt of the sincerity of the Manitoba government throughout."

"Do you anticipate that the Manitoba government will voluntarily act in the matter?"

"I can hardly speak about that. Manitoba may think it best to come to a compromise upon the question and the government may act upon the line of remedial legislation. I do not mean 'remedial' for that is a very obnoxious word out there, and must be looked upon as a necessary evil. The province of Manitoba, judging by Winnipeg, is very largely in favor of conciliatory action. They are not obstinately opposed to some compromise. There is a very strong sentiment in favor of some settlement, which may be consented to with great dignity."

"Do you think the provincial legislature will take any action this session?"

"I cannot speak on that point although it is possible they may think it advisable to do something at the adjourned session."

The commissioners have returned with their minds disabused of the idea that Mr. Greenway has been acting in concert with Mr. Laurier, an impression that generally prevails among conservatives here.

It having been telegraphed from Winnipeg to certain eastern papers that disarray was shown the commissioners, Mr. Dickey this morning denied the statement in the following terms: "You cannot possibly make it too strong as to the friendliness and kindness of our reception and the good understanding between us."

A Montreal despatch of April 6th says: Sir Donald Smith is not without hope, despite the apparent failure of the recent conference at Winnipeg, that there will yet be an amicable settlement of the Manitoba school question. When asked whether anything remained for the Dominion government to do now, except pass the remedial bill, he replied: "It is recognized on all hands that the Dominion has the right to pass remedial legislation. How far they may be able to pass the bill I cannot say more than you. Personally speaking, I am very hopeful even yet that the matter will be settled, not quite immediately. I mean, by the provincial government, but at any rate, after a time a way will be found for meeting the views in a moderate way of both sides."

ODDFELLOWS' BALL.

The annual anniversary ball given by Friendship Lodge I. O. O. F. took place on Friday evening in Robertson's hall and was a complete success. The hall was well and neatly decorated with appropriate mottoes, pictures, etc. besides a number of handsome specimens of the taxidermist art. The electric lights were ornamented with large red, white and blue tassels. The orchestra was placed on the stage, and the drop curtain let down behind which made the music more than usually effective. The orchestra comprised Musica, Purches and Staff violins, de Jour and Cann piano, Flynn's whistle and Hockey cornet, and the music was exceptionally good from an artistic, as well as from the dancer's point of view. The programme, which was strictly adhered to, included 26 dances and four extras, and was concluded at about three o'clock. The supper, provided by and served at the Jasper House, was one of the best ever served on an occasion of the kind in Edmonton, in quality, variety and tasteful display. A cloak room was provided for the ladies, and a most acceptable feature. The committee of management were to be congratulated on the success of affair. The members of the committee were A. Brown, R. Foster, W. K. West, J. B. Little, T. Houston, J. R. Umback, H. L. McInnis and G. T. Bragg.

La Patrie, of Montreal, says that Oulmet, minister of public works, is going to retire from politics in disgust.
